

Dr. Marvin Advises U. S. Aid

Reports on Need Of Federal Aid to Colleges, Schools

AT THE ANNUAL conference of the Association of American Colleges held at Atlantic City, President Cloyd Heck Marvin reported on the findings of the committee on higher education appointed by the House of Representatives to investigate the possibilities of Federal Aid to educational institutions.

Dr. Marvin stated that the committee had proposed that the Government aid those colleges which, because of decreased enrollment, need help. While on the whole the picture concerning colleges and universities was good, Dr. Marvin indicated that if the war continued, many of the institutions now able to get by would find themselves in danger.

The House Group recommended that direct grants be given to both publicly and privately controlled colleges and that the grants be allocated on a formula that would minimize Federal control.

Other colleges should be granted long-term, low-interest loans and funds on a commensurate basis for repair and replacement of permanent equipment and repair and construction of buildings.

For many years the question of Federal aid to education has been a sharp issue at college and school meetings. In his report to the Association, Dr. Guy E. Snavely, executive director, warned the colleges against "the selling of their birthright for a mess of dollars."

Dr. Phinney Baxter, 3d, president of Williams College and head of the Commission on Liberal Education, was even more emphatic in his outcry against the evils that Federal aid would import.

Dr. Marvin's report proposed the providing of a national system of earned, selective scholarships for college and university students. For each Congressional district there would be allotted twenty-five undergraduate and five graduate scholarships, including professional study, to be awarded to those receiving the highest scores in order of test rank on examinations to be given each February.

Establishment of an international office of education was also suggested in report and drew considerable support from the members.

Compulsory military training in peacetime was a major issue raised at the Conference. The educators opposed the measure very strongly on the grounds that a boy of 19, after having served one year's military training, would be disinterested in continuing a higher education, thereby curtailing drastically collegiate matriculation.

The members pointed out the dangers of indoctrination, which would hinder individual thinking and which would encourage submission to governmental control of life. They held that such training had not saved Europe from constant wars nor had it prepared countries adhering thereto to meet the German onslaught.

Government Offers New Courses Now

DEAN W. C. JOHNSTONE

NEW COURSES for graduate study being offered by the School of Government were announced by Dean Wm. C. Johnstone, Tuesday. All of these courses will be given in the evening and are open to graduate students whether or not registered for a degree.

Postwar tax policies (Eco-262), under the direction of Dr. Gerhard Colm, one of the leading economists of the country, will include lectures by guest speakers such as Randolph Paul, outstanding authority on Federal tax legislation and formerly chief counsel of the Treasury Department, and Roy Blough, chief of the Treasury's Tax Research Division.

The tax proposals of Beardsley Ruml, Professor Alvin Hanse, the CIO and other organizations, will be discussed and analyzed.

Dr. Arthur Smithies of the Bureau of the Budget will conduct International Economic Organizations (P.S. 206). Functions and operations of UNRRA, the combined board, the food and agriculture organization and similar bodies will be discussed.

Former member of the U. S. Mediation Board and nationally prominent expert on labor relations, Mr. Otto Beyer, will give a new seminar on labor relations emphasizing the latest developments in relations between organized labor, business management, and government. The course is entitled Labor Relations (Eco-244).

Budgetary Controls of Government Management will be the subject of a new Public Administration course offered by Glendon J. Mowitt, formerly with the Railroad Retirement Board and more recently with the Office of Price Administration.

Educational Center Open for Veterans Under G.I. Bill

UNDER THE DIRECTION of Dr. Donnel B. Young, professor of zoology, who serves as faculty adviser for all veterans registered at the University, a new center at 720 22d Street has been opened to help veterans qualify for educational benefit guaranteed them under the GI Bill of Rights.

Dr. Edwin W. Davis, former director of education research for Vermont, is director of this Washington Counseling Center. Dr. Young said they are planning to have a representative of the Veterans' Administration stationed at the center in an advisory capacity.

Since the center opened many veterans interested in college or university training have been applying. One hundred and fifty have registered so far at the University. Other men and women who require further academic background before entering higher schools have requested counseling.

In addition to the counseling service, the center offers such services as recommending proper preliminary schooling where necessary on the basis of tests, or will help arrange special classwork within the physical capabilities of the disabled veteran. These services are offered because many veterans applying for educational courses are unqualified because of either academic deficiencies or physical disability.

Marvin to Conduct Student Forum On Sociology Monday

SECOND OF the new administration-student conferences inaugurated and presided over by President Cloyd H. Marvin will be held Monday at 9 p.m. in the Board Room of the Library to discuss the possibilities of a Sociology Department.

Among the campus leaders who will be present, according to a list released by Lois Smith, Student Council president, are: Ruth Rupple, Vivian Burke and Elinor Bers, who presented a signed petition to President Marvin earlier this year; Jimmy Huddleston and Lois Smith, Student Council; Betty Jean Karle, student leader, and Don Balfour, Hatchet.

Dr. James Nolan of Criminal Justice Association, who formerly taught at the University, and Eldridge Sibly, an interested representative from the Social Science Research Council, were also included on the list.

Expansion of the drama, its effect on Cue and Curtain, and the return of Journalism Department will be the topic of the next conference to be held February 12.

Dean Wilbur Dies, Served University

DEAN W. A. WILBUR

DEAN AND PROVOST, William Allen Wilbur, 81, who was affectionately known by a generation of undergraduates as "grand old man," died Friday night at the University Hospital of injuries suffered from a fall in his home last December.

Member of Phi Beta Kappa and Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternities, he received his A. B., A. M. and Litt. D. degrees from Brown University in Providence, R. I.

He came to Washington in 1885 as dean of the Columbian Academy, now known as the University. Later he became dean of the College of Arts and Sciences and after 1928 served as provost, the head of the faculties. When he retired in 1935, he was given the title of professor emeritus.

His famous class in freshman rhetoric was the largest in the University and all students held a unique place in their hearts for the Dean.

Besides his educational activities, Dean Wilbur was active in Baptist Church. He is survived by his wife, the former Marian Lund, and a son, William Knapp Wilbur, associated with Pan-American World Airways in Miami, Fla.

DR. B. H. JARMAN, associate professor of education, has been appointed registrar of the University. Fred Nessell, former registrar, will assume the position of business manager which was left vacant by the resignation of Allen H. Connolly in November.

The registrar said his office would be in C-100 and that he would be more than happy to meet with any student to talk over any problems in the jurisdiction of the Registrar or Student Life.

"The thing that I am really interested in is young people, and I think the students at the University know that," Dr. Jarman added.

Affiliated with the university since 1938 he has also served as supervisor of secondary education in the Arlington County schools since 1942, but announced he will now resign that position.

Professor Jarman holds the Master of Arts and Doctor of Education degrees from the University and is the author of "Episcopal Secondary Schools for Boys in the United States."

Work or Fight

• MANY OF OUR MALE STUDENTS have been expressing concern over the proposed work-or-fight legislation currently before the Congress, wondering how it will affect them should the bill become law.

As we see it, the President's message, Jimmy Byrnes' work-or-fight request, the WPB fuel and light conservation order, the ban on conventions and excessive travelling, and the many other statements and orders that have come out in the past month are all steps in a tightening up process, caused by the overly optimistic attitude of the home front defenders.

Whether over optimism or an abnormal expression of self preservation in either case these acts have been accompanied by drastic results that call for drastic action.

And so . . . the average college boy, the fellow who has been fed reams of publicity on the importance of education in wartime, who has seen tangible evidence of its value in the Navy V-12 program and the Army's ASTP, is beginning to have doubts.

On one hand he reads of a Navy Department request to increase the various V programs now and in the postwar period, and on the other he reads about draft 4-F's orders and work-or-fight. His opinions, as expressed on campus, show that he seems to believe that his government wants him to leave school and get a job in a war plant.

Let's explode that misconception here and now. No legislature in its right mind would include at present any provision in a work-or-fight bill that will take College men out of schools and put them in the production line.

The proposed legislation is under consideration solely because of the great pool of capable manpower now working in non-essential industry. There has never been such a shortage of labor as to require such steps as many of our students seem to fear.

The fact that many of these laborers have at various times been employed in defense industries and have left to obtain jobs offering more security or higher pay, is the direct cause for the great concern in Congressional circles.

Moreover, the proposal to draft 4-F's, while originally intended to put teeth into the work-or-fight order, has been bypassed in favor of fines and jail sentences.

In short, we cannot believe the situation facing the nation will have serious repercussions on College campuses, until such time as it becomes absolutely necessary to scrape the bottom of the manpower barrel and form our own Volkssturm. College men are too important to the progress of the nation both during and after this war, to permit a wholesale curtailment of higher education.

Everliving

• WE NEVER KNEW Dean Wilbur; he was before our time. But his legend is historic, his fame everlasting, and his place in the hearts of his students and friends undying.

Known to all as the "grand old man," he earned that plaudit through his unceasing efforts to counsel and advise as well as teach. As a one man office of personnel guidance, loan company, Dorothy Dix and advisor, his students felt free to come to him with all types of problems and difficulties. No problem was too great or too small to receive his complete and unstinting efforts towards its solution.

Anecdotes and legends about his grading system are many, but most famous of all was his explanation of an "A" that he gave to a student whose work had not been quite that good. "I thought it would make her work harder in order to keep it," was his reply.

Though never a rich man, at one time during a University Building Fund drive he instructed that $1,000 of his salary be donated to the fund.

His body may be consecrated in the earth, but his soul lives on in the lives and hearts of his fellow men. An everliving memorial to a great man.

Letters to the Editor

Our Foreign Language Department is a "sorry mess." I'll qualify that by saying that the French Department is one, as that has been my only direct experience here at the University. When a student with some background or experience enters one of the courses, he shudders to listen to American-born professors proffer non-existent rules and regulations, mispronounce words, speak with such heavy American accents that ought to make them ashamed to admit having spent many years in France.

In addition, they seem much more preoccupied with the finer points of the English language rather than of the one being studied. If a student semi-versed in the language is able to discern these faults, corroborated by higher French educators, how many others must be committed without the student even being aware of them!

"Why, why must we have Americans teaching foreign languages? However good their intentions, however extensive be their background, they very seldom approach the ability of even an average native teacher. The majority of students presently enrolled in foreign language studies are primarily interested in learning to converse. They normally meet sufficient difficulties without encountering the idiosyncrasies inherent to the different teachers.

If the University is troubled by the probable contracts of the other professors, why not relegate Mr. Deibert, Dr. Cornwell and others in their category, who are so well grounded and interested in the fundamentals as well as in the niceties of the English language, to the English Department which is badly in need of qualified personnel?

Anne Snure, A.B. '28, L.L.B. '34, was the only woman to pass the recent Maryland State Bar examination, noted as one of the most difficult in the country.

In an address at an Alumni luncheon at the Mayflower, J. Edgar Hoover stated that G.W. has a higher percentage of personnel in the F.B.I. than any school in the country.

Pixlee announced that Alabama, Rice, West Virginia and Tulsa would be on the football card for the 1935 season. Harry Deming, giant tackle, was elected grid captain; "Tuffy" Leemans won the O. D. K. Trophy as the most valuable man on the team.

G. W. coeds defeated Indiana's rifle team 488 to 467.

District Commissioner Melvin C. Hazen led the grand march at the fourth annual Engineers Ball at the Shoreham Hotel.

Press Notes

• CHICAGO, ILL. — (I. P.) — The University of Chicago's pioneering step in abolishing high school credits as a basis of placing students in its college, begun last September, enabled more than 100 or 800 entering students to advance beyond the level indicated in their official school credits.

(A. C. P.)—AWS lounge at University of Washington has a small inoffensive brown door marked "Date Bureau." All a fellow has to do is to describe his dream girl, and no matter how fussy or peculiar his desires may be, he'll have a chance to meet her the following Friday.

Columbia, S. C. — (I. P.)—University of South Carolina has established a department of retailing to provide training in many phases of retail business. The new department will include courses such as management-employee relation, retail management and operation, salesmanship, textiles and non-textiles, color, line and design, credits and collections, advertising and display, and personnel management.

Evanston, Ill. — (I. P.)—Contrary to popular belief that humans have only five senses, Dr. Robert H. Seashore, professor of psychology at Northwestern University said at least 11 or possibly 13 are known.

In addition to senses of pressure, cold, warmth and pain, each of which is distinctly separate and incapable of producing one of the other three sensations, are the senses of vision, hearing, smell, taste, kinesthesia or muscular sense, equilibrium, and the internal organic sense, which transmits sensations such as hunger, thirst, and sex.

• OUTSTANDING AMONG the speakers at the Annual Inter-American conference held January 17 under the direction of the Inter-American Center was the Senor Galo Plaza, Ambassador from Ecuador. Senor Plaza spoke on "Pan-Americanism Through Education."

Senor Plaza stated that the United States has unfortunately failed to realize the potentials of the field of education as a means of consolidating the hemisphere and promoting democratic ideals. He cited the German system by which children were taught Nazi philosophy in their schools all over the world.

After discovering the existence of this scheme, Senor Plaza, with some friends, organized schools of their own to counteract this influence in South America. It should perhaps be noted that public schools are not extensive in Latin America.

All women students who wish to join a sorority must register on or before Sunday, February 4, or they will not be eligible to pledge a sorority this semester. A fee of one dollar will be charged for registration. Open house is scheduled for February 4 from 4 to 7 p. m. in the Sorority Halls located at 2129 G Street and 802 21st Street.

The following rules have been announced by Gene Snyder, president of Panhellenic Council:

Silence will begin at 10:30 p. m. each night and last until 9 a. m. the next morning, during which time no sorority girl or rushee may speak to the other. Considered "off-campus" for this period are Strong Hall, Staughton Hall, and the Faculty Club.

Silence is to be observed from 10:30 p. m. until 9 a. m. the following morning. That means that no conversation is to be held between a sorority girl and a rushee.

"Big John" Opens Up Again

● SOMEWHERE IN THE PACIFIC (Delayed)—Lieut. "Big John" Koniszewski, U. S. M. C. former University football, basketball and baseball star, is still carrying the ball, and every time he takes it through it spells trouble for Hirohito's hordes. During the Tinian-Saipan campaign "Big John" and his platoon were ordered to take a certain hill. After moving out under heavy enemy fire, his men began falling all around him and soon there were but six left. Unable to hold the hill, they were ordered to retire. The next day, aided by reinforcements, they retook the hill, this time for keeps. On the 20th day of their stay, Koniszewski was hit in the shoulder by Jap machine gun fire from a higher ridge. After treatment and a brief rest "Big John" returned to the fight.

Intramurals Quintets Primed For Remainder of Schedule

● AFTER A THREE WEEK LAYOFF, Intramural quintets get back into the business of playing basketball next week. With only one team hit seriously by the draft and injuries, the meaty part of the schedule rolls around with most of the teams set for the tough season ahead of them.

Phi Alpha has lost four men to the draft, two of them first stringers, while another regular has been ordered by his doctor to quit playing or suffer permanent injury. But they still intend to stay in the league and finish up their schedule.

The entrance of four medical school teams into the league and Phi Sigma Kappa has increased most of the schedule to a point where three games a night will have to be played. And most of the medical school teams look like the ones to beat for the title. They have height, weight, and experience, something which most of the others do not have.

Three teams, Pharmacy School, Sigma Chi, and the Medical School Seniors are at present tied for the league lead.

Ringsters Face Hard Workout

Boxing Tournament Slated for Final Week in April

● UNIVERSITY BOXERS LEAVE the fundamental boxing routine and intensive conditioning drills will commence, with returning students feeling no break in the regular routine and newcomers to the University starting from scratch.

Deadline for entries in the boxing tournament was set at March 20. There are eighteen weight groups, ranging from 100 pounds to the unlimited class. These groups will probably be whittled down to about ten when the final bouts are held.

Two outstanding boxers who won championships in the 135 and 140-pound classes in 1942 are now attending the University Medical School and have announced their intentions of competing again in this year's tournament.

There are also two other boxing champions from last year's tournament entering in this year's competition.

Tournament training will last until the second week in April, following which the elimination bouts will take place. During this period the outstanding boxers will be picked for the final bouts, which will be staged the last week in April.

For the present the faults which are apparent in most of the boys are arm-weariness, and the lack of wind.

University Trainer George "Doc" Lentz, under whose supervision the tournament will be held, will attempt to iron out these difficulties in time for the final bouts.

It appears at present that this year's tournament will be even more successful than last year's, which drew more than 500 students to the gymnasium to establish itself as the leading spectator sport at the University.

Tourneys Planned

● INTERSORORITY ATHLETIC Board will hold a meeting February 14. Tournaments will be held every month except May. Swimming and badminton tournaments are planned to be held in the spring.

Badminton Opens

● PERSONS DESIRING to enter the badminton contests which will be held in the gym starting February 19 at 12 noon, must secure entrance blanks from the Women's Athletic Department or from the following people: Betty Lou Reed, Eddie Wadden, Jerry Stull, Barbara Stellwagon, Lois Lord or Cynthia Phillips before February 8.

Out Of The Basket

By MERVIN LEWIS

● SOME CRACKPOT WHO DIDN'T sign his name to it, sent a letter to me in which he accused me of being either an uninformed sports-writer or a writer who led his readers astray with false information. That remark came in reference to a statement I made about Hamline College having a great basketball team, though the school had only 95 male students registered.

The writer claims that I did not inform my readers of the fact that there were two professional baseball players who were the high scorers on the team. He claimed that they were the reason that Hamline College had such a good team.

Aside from the fact that one of the players mentioned, Howie Schultz, plays for the Brooklyn Dodgers and Brooklyn has a soft spot in my heart, I deny nothing.

It was not important at the time to point out that professional baseball players made up their roster, but that all colleges were attempting to keep sports going regardless of the war.

As a person sincerely interested in the maintenance of collegiate sports, I see no dark shadow falling across the fair name of basketball because a few schools are using men who have played professional sports of some kind, are finishing their college careers and getting their degrees, and at the same time helping to keep athletics alive.

Evidently there are many college officials who believe as I do, for in a direct rebuttal to Dan Ferris' statement that any men who played against Hamline would lose their amateur standing with the Amateur Athletic Union, they have not called off their scheduled games with this school. Ferris is the president of the A. A. U. and colleges like DePaul University, always a great basketball school, must feel pretty sure that they are doing no harm in playing Hamline, regardless of what the A. A. U. says.

Price Is Lucky Boy

Not much has been said about the annual Touchdown Club Award which is given each year to the most outstanding intramural athlete at the University.

The announcement, if it could be called an announcement, that Lloyd Price had won the award, just "oozed" out of the Physical Education Department like some deep dark secret.

The impression that I received was that the award was given to the men who had great promotional and leadership ability, besides being a superior athlete.

I disagree with two of the three qualifications, since I believe that such an award should go to the person who is the best all-round athlete, no matter what else he does well, but even on these three reasons for the award I can't see for the life of me why the trophy was awarded to Price.

Price as a mediocre athlete, excelled in only one sport and participated in only three intramural sports, football, basketball and bowling. He was a better than average gridster, though lacking a little defensive "savvy."

In my mind there is only one boy at the school now who deserved the award and that boy was Joe Giovacchini. Giovacchini participated in basketball, football, baseball, badminton, table tennis and boxing and usually he led the field in all of these sports. He was the backbone of the Bomber quintet which won the court championship last year, played an inspired game at shortstop for the Seabees and was always a holler guy on the athletic field.

How he was overlooked in the choice for an outstanding athlete is completely beyond me.

Disgraceful (EDITORIAL)

• THE APPEARANCE OF LESS THAN one hundred students at the All-University Assembly last Friday night is positive proof of the most invidious lethargy that has ever existed on any college campus in this country.

To have less than .016667% of the total enrollment present at an Assembly where men of such caliber as Eugene Meyer and Robert E. Freer are present as guests, is almost a personal affront.

It reflects, not so much on the good name of the student body who because of their vast number remain anonymous, but on the prestige and standing in the community and the nation of this University.

For the past several months student leaders have been blaming themselves for the poor showings at most University functions. They redoubled their efforts and their energy in the hope that the spirit might be infectious, catch on and take hold. They, the only students in the University doing anything at all, blamed themselves.

The blame now rests on the shoulders of those who are truly at fault.

You. Yes you, the persons reading this now. You who did not show up last Friday night.

You have brought disgrace and ridicule to this University in the eyes of outstanding public leaders whose greatest contact with the University is through you, the inactive, lethargic, uninterested, torpid student.

Pi Delta Epsilon Taps Publisher, Students At All-U Assembly

Journalists Select Eugene Meyer as Honorary Member

• HIGHLIGHT of the first All-University assembly of the winter term was the honorary tapping of Eugene Meyer, owner and publisher of The Washington Post, into Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary journalism fraternity.

Robert E. Freer, chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, introduced Mr. Meyer on behalf of President Cloyd Heck Marvin, who was unable to attend the assembly. Mr. Freer pointed out that Mr. Meyer had had a long and successful career in banking circles before turning to the newspaper field.

Mary Ring Young, president of the fraternity, formally tapped outstanding undergraduate journalists who had been elected to the fraternity. They were Herbert Halberstadt, Hatchet business manager; Juanita Hall and Anne Peterson, Hatchet Board of Editors; Mervin Lewis, Hatchet sports editor; Margaret Lynn, Cherry Tree editor; Dorothy Snyder, Cherry Tree business manager; Bertie Stamm, Hatchet advertising manager; Peggy Jane Switzer, Cherry Tree assistant editor, and Elizabeth Wells, Cherry Tree circulation manager.

• THE SUM OF $1,000 was willed to the University by Mrs. Elfrida B. Droop, widow of the former music store president in Washington. It was revealed when her will was filed for probate on January 30 in the District Court.

1945 Cherry Tree To Meet Scheduled May Distribution

• CHERRY TREE for 1945 has gone to press and, with everything going as scheduled at the printer's, will be ready for distribution by May 1.

Dorothy Snyder, business manager, stated Sunday that the entire yearbook campaign has been "very successful" and that this will probably lead to a bigger and better annual for next year.

The advertising quota was reached and the subscription quota exceeded last year's by $150. There will be no extra copies for sale later in May.

Editor Margaret Lynn wishes to thank the students and faculty for their cooperation in aiding the staff in meeting its schedule.

Many Roles Still Open In Roberta

Trowbridge Gets Lead; Mitchell,
Murphy Support

• PARTIAL CASTING for "Roberta," Cue and Curtin's forthcoming musical scheduled for March 16, in Lisner Auditorium, has been completed, according to Floyd L. Sparks, director of the University drama group.

Betty Lou Trowbridge will portray Stephanie, exiled Russian princess, the part made famous by Irene Dunne in the motion picture version. John Mitchell has been cast in the role of John, All-American, portrayed by John Boles on the screen.

The comedy part of Countess Schwarinka, Parisian night club singer and menace to all males, has been given to Lu Murphy, Cue and Curtin veteran. Other leading roles will be announced this week. There are still many parts available for those who are interested, said Mr. Sparks.

Dancers will be under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Burner, director of Orchestis, University dance group. The Glee Club, under the direction of Dr. Robert Harmon, will furnish chorists and featured soloists.

The Cue and Curtin Business Office has urged that all season subscribers who have not mailed their number three stub along with seat preferences, do so at once before all seats are released for general sale. These should be mailed to the Box Office, Lisner Auditorium, 21st and H Streets, N. W., Zone 6.

Jarman 'Pleased' With Registration

Although complete figures will not be available until March 15, both President Marvin and Dr. Jarman are "very pleased" over the continued high rate of registration which followed the record wartime registration set last semester.

Last semester's figures showed over six thousand students registered in all divisions of the University. Of these sixty per cent were women students while the remaining forty per cent were men.

Dual Recital Will Climax Symphony Fund Campaign

Season Tickets Go
To High Collectors
In Symphony Drive

• CLIMAXING the National Symphony Drive to raise funds for its 1945-46 season, a dual recital by Leroy Owens, popular Washington baritone, and pianist Pattie Parker will be presented in the living room of Strong Hall Thursday at 8:15 p.m. for all University students and their guests.

In a program to consist of both classical and semi-popular selections, Mr. Owens will sing in his first group "Aus Meiner Grossen Schmerzen" by Franz, "Evening Star" from "Tannhauser" by Wagner, and "Song of the North" by German. The second part of the program, in contrast, will be composed of "Cargoes," "Virginia Folk Song," "They Didn't Believe Me" and "Dark Eyes."

Following Mr. Owens' classical numbers, Miss Parker will play her original composition "Concerto No. 1 for Piano" dedicated to all young people. The concerto was written by Miss Parker in remembrance of her brother, who was killed in action.

The recital will end the campaign which began this week to assist in a city-wide drive to continue the Watergate and Constitution Hall series at popular prices. Under the sponsorship of Student Council's Victory Service Drives, chairman Anne Peterson, the campaign is the first symphony campus drive receiving University approval.

Representatives from the various sororities met yesterday morning in the Strong Hall to lay plans for canvassing the student body. Joan Rodcliffe will be in charge of a booth in the student club to receive money from the canvassers during the noon hours and from 5-6 p.m.

Individual who collects the most money will receive a season ticket to a symphony series in the 1945-46 season. Single performance tickets will be given the second and third place winners.

According to Polly Peterson, chairman, a goal of $15,000 has been set for the four universities in Washington. In competition with the others, Miss Peterson stated she hoped that this University would be able to contribute its share.

Springtime Nears As Veterans Light Political Fires

• STRAWS IN THE WIND; or, with politics astir, can spring be far behind?

Long dormant campus political fires gave out with a faint spark last week when the Veterans Club, at a meeting Friday night, decided tentatively to form a Progressive Party.

The vet group will send form letters to all campus organizations, including Greek houses, asking them to submit a list of qualified candidates, based on character, scholarship and activities.

Following compilation of a slate from names submitted, the club will petition the Student Council for permission to form the new party.

Tryouts Announced

• ANN RINGWALT, Cue and Curtin Workshop manager, reports that tryouts for the Workshop plays will be held Friday, February 9, at 8 p.m. in Studio B of the auditorium. Three plays featuring University newcomers are to be given.

Book Co-op Needs Math, Science Texts

• WITH THE STUDENT Book Exchange scheduled to remain open for only one more week, Co-directors Edwina Rothgeb and Mervin Martin have issued a call for more books, particularly those used in English, science and mathematics.

In addition, students who have copies of Hegner's Zoology, Scarlet and Richardson's General Chemistry, Principles of Effective Speaking, Gray's Psychology in Use, Woodward and Valentine's Psychology, Gimmel and Blodgett's Principles of Economics, Perrin's Writers Guide and Index to English, Ellis Pound's College Course in American Literature, and Howe's Introduction to Physics are asked to bring them to the Book Exchange.

The Exchange located in the Student Club, will be open from 12 noon to 7 p.m. through Friday.

Beginning Thursday, February 15, the Exchange will settle all accounts, the co-directors disclosed.

Prizes will be awarded to individuals and groups selling the greatest number of bricks. The type of individual prize has not been determined by the committee, but a gold cup, a gift from L. B. Balfour Jewelry Company, will be presented to the sorority making the highest contribution. During the campaign the cup will be placed in the Student Club show case.

Due to a misunderstanding, Pi Beta Phi Sorority, which won the cup in 1940, retained the cup and no presentation has been made since that time. The cup has now been returned to Miss Atwell, and will be engraved with the name of the 1945 winner.

Conscription

• THE RECENT DECISION OF THE Association of American Colleges to oppose peacetime conscription seems to us both shortsighted and unrealistic.

Their attitude reflects the same thinking that appears in most of the history books we have studied. Books that, for the most part, were either written or revised to include the first World War and its effects.

Every history course or book we ever studied, until this war broke out, condemned wars and pointed out the mistakes we had made; but they made little mention of constructive plans to preserve peace.

We have seen the breakdown of the League of Nations, the half-hearted attempts at armament limitations rather than disarmament, and world governments brought to the forcible realization that scraps of paper and good intentions cannot outlaw war as an instrument of foreign policy.

We have seen appeasers, isolationists, fascists, democrats, imperialists, free traders, protectionists, and all manner of men and ideals fail in their attempts to establish a lasting peace.

We, the Americans of today, have lifted up the rifles and cannon that our fathers laid down, and have gone off to fight another war of death, destruction, pestilence and hate.

We intend to see that this does not happen again.

But, unlike our fathers and their fathers before them, we intend to do more than hope and pray and put our faith in words and treaties.

The greatest mistake ever made was to allow the guarantors to democracy and freedom to become so enfeebled, in the face of German rearmament and Italian and Japanese aggression, as to make it necessary for "so much to be owed by so many, to so few."

We do not intend to be caught with our pants down, again.

While we are willing to put our hopes into a United Nations World Organization, our faith into the Atlantic Charter, and our whole body and soul into a decent and respectable peace, we do not intend to leave it just at that.

We intend to do everything in our power to see that this country increases the size of its standing Army after the war, that peacetime conscription for periodic service in the Regular Army becomes an actuality and that through constant preparedness we provide an instrument of foreign policy that will never again allow an aggressor nation to disrupt the peace and security of the world.

Rheba, the Little Amoeba

Can't you see, Mamma . . . we don't want to get caught with our pants down again.

Expansion

• LAST NIGHT, AT THE second student-administration conference the question of bringing back a Sociology Department was discussed at great length.

In view of the fact that we went to press on Sunday night, we are unable to report on the discussion. However, we do have some definite ideas on the subject.

The question to be answered first, before we ever get to the problem of a Sociology Department, is that of defining the policy to be followed in determining how any course may be brought back, or initiated.

Shall student demand be the sole factor? How are the needs of other courses and departments to be evaluated, how much emphasis is to be placed on professional courses in relation to the courses in arts, sciences, languages, music, drama, etc?

The whole question of the future direction of this University is here involved. In which direction is our University to grow, shall we emphasize research and general education or lean more toward professional training in an effort to ready the student body for the "War of Life."

These are questions which the University Administration must answer, questions which they have asked the student body to help answer.

If ever a student body had an opportunity to help plan the future of their own University, we here have that chance now. Student leaders alone cannot reflect the diverse opinions of the entire student body.

We therefore request, most sincerely, that our readers write us, tell us your needs, desires, hopes and plans for the future. Tell us in which direction you think the University should grow, and we'll tell it to the Administration.

Press Notes

• MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.—(I. P.)—The University of Minnesota has received a proposal of "marriage" not directly from the stately and beautiful Durham University in England, but indirectly through Dr. Stephen P. Duggan, director of the Institute of International Education.

The proposal is that the paired institutions each accept a student from the other and pay his tuition and living expenses while he or she is in residence. Dr. Duggan expressed a belief he could find institutional benefactors, such as foundations, to pay the costs of travel.

At Minnesota the proposal is under consideration, but final approvals has not yet been given. The arrangement would not go into effect until after the war.

Ithaca, N. Y.—(I. P.)—Announcing an important academic change at Cornell University, President Edmund E. Day revealed that five years instead of the conventional four will be required for a bachelor's degree in all branches of engineering after the war.

The new program will include civil, electrical and mechanical engineering. The School of Chemical Engineering here has been on a five year basis since 1938.

The new curriculum, in effect, will combine much of the content of the former courses in Administrative Engineering with those of the four major branches of engineering. It will provide a minimum of 20 per cent non-technical studies. These will be arranged in sequential order throughout the five years, running parallel with the technical studies.

Cleveland, O.—(I. P.)—Western Reserve University has announced plans, in cooperation with Case School of Applied Science, for television instruction and the broadcasting of television plays.

Instruction, play production and broadcasting will be started as an informal extra-curricular activity, according to Professor Barclay S. Leatham, head of dramatics at Western Reserve.

CAMPUS CARAVAN

A Freshman walked into a Prof's office the other day to get some help with his algebra. The problems were getting the best of him and disgustedly, he said, "I can't get this algebra." The Prof looked at him and said, "My boy, I'm surprised at you. George Washington was a surveyor at your age!" The Freshman felt that he should hold up his own morale and so he said, "I should worry; he was the President of the United States at your age." (The boy has no hopes of passing algebra). TOMAHAWK

Ten Years Ago —In the Hatchet

• AN ANONYMOUS GIFT of $3 opened the Freshman Frolic Deficit Drive to wipe out a debt of three years' standing under the leadership of Bernard Fagelson.

The Broadway hit "Good-bye Again" by Allen Scott and George Haight was picked for the second Cue and Curtain production to be given early in March at the Wardman Park.

After two hours of heated debate, the Student Council inaugurated a new system of Student government. Replacing the direct representation from the schools, the membership in the council was voted to be elected at large over the objections of the Medical School and Columbian College.

Colonials failed in a desperate rally in the last minutes of the basketball game with West Virginia and lost 43-31 as Jimmy Hovell missed his shot from center.

By a vote of 3-2 the District Supreme Court reversed the conviction of Edward J. Parilton and Albert Smith, who were tried for setting fire to the Sigmund Chi house in 1933.

Nine sororities entered contestants for the Cherry Tree beauty contest to be picked by MacCelland Barclay.

Part Three of "Trade Regulation," a casebook written by S. C. Oppenheim of the law school, was released.

The Freshman Mixer was held in the gymnasium followed by dancing in Stockton Hall with music by the University band.

Barbara Lyddane

• ALWAYS FULL OF BUBBLING ENTHUSIASM, Barbara Lyddane is an ardent recruiter for Orchestis. Barbara is majoring in physical education and will graduate in June with strong desires to get her Master's, and teach modern dance and physical education in some college or university.

From modern dance she became interested in sculpturing and that has now become one of her chief hobbies — to sculpture the figures of the dance. She also loves to make her own clothes and is mad about purple and chartreuse. Her favorite foods are normal, like steak and onions, but she has a passion for eggplant and orders it whenever possible. Besides her phys. ed. activity she is obviously extremely domestic and loves to cook.

Barbara's activities around the University are numerous and include Mortar Board in 1943-44-45, WAA social chairman for three years, recording secretary, Orchestis publicity manager and business manager, and Canterbury Club treasurer. She has received her major and minor letters and two stars in WAA.

For the past two years, she has had a job teaching gym and modern dance out at the Convent of the Sacred Heart to Young Legation children who call her "Miss Liddy." Last summer she took lessons from Martha Graham and stayed at the International House in New York doing nothing all day but dancing, eating and sleeping—a life she would like to follow always.

Barbara could rave on about Orchestis for hours on end and has devoted four years of college to making it the success it is now. As she says "I love everything, but best of all dancing."

sembly and on behalf of Dr. Marvin welcomed freshmen to the University.

She then introduced Gene Spears, president of the class of 1948, who introduced the other officers—Jean Casanova, vice-president, and William Gregory, secretary-treasurer.

Christopher B. Garnett, Dean of the Junior College, gave a short talk on the four major qualifications of an educated man. First of these points was knowledge, and Dr. Garnett stated that ignorance is "the anathema of a well-bred man and success comes only with knowledge." His second point was understanding, with tolerance as the third characteristic. Lastly, the Dean spoke of curiosity, the basis of all education, and said a man cannot be alive mentally unless he is curious.

Other events on the program consisted of skits by Cue and Curtain, Orchestra and the Glee Club. Kay Knokey gave Sheila Barrett's presentation of "The Southern Girl," after which Orchestra, University dance group, reviewed two numbers.

The finale was two religious selections by a section of the Glee Club under the direction of Dr. Robert H. Harmon, closing with the Alma Mater, and "Hail to the Buff."

Co-Directors Plan Program to Star Ballad by Phillips

• ENTERTAINMENT in the style of Cafe Society. Uptown or Nick's will highlight the University Founders' Day Buff 'n' Blue this Friday night, February 9, in the Student Club from 9 to 12. Lynn Bell's orchestra will provide the dance music, while student instrumental and vocal talent will take over during intermission.

A new ballad by Tommy Phillips will be featured as part of the intermission program, with Charlotte Mellum doing the vocal. Talent will also be drawn from the University of Maryland. Jerry Knauer, a student in the University Medical School, will act as master of ceremonies.

Dimmed lights, checked table cloths and table service will combine to give the Student Club the appearance of a night club. Cokes will replace cocktails on the menu, however.

Tickets at one dollar, plus tax, are on sale in the Student Club at the Buff 'n' Blue booth from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. The capacity of the Student Club is about a hundred couples and since couples had to be turned away from the last Buff 'n' Blue, the co-directors urge that tickets be purchased early to assure table reservations. Reservations will be accepted by Mary Jane Whittlesey and Joe Vivari, co-directors of the Buff 'n' Blue.

Court Teams Resume, Kruger Top Scorer

• WITH EVERY INTRAMURAL court team returning to action this week, hoop fans at the University can expect fireworks from now until the middle of April.

Most of the teams are at full strength for the grueling schedule ahead and with the addition of new men to the rosters, close games look like the criterion from now on.

The Veterans Club seems to be the team most affected by the registration, and it was all to their advantage. The new players they have added to their team will stamp them as the team to beat along with the league-leading Pharmacy School team and the Med School quintets. They will also be under excellent coaching this semester, having received "Laddie" Reichwein, former varsity court star, into their ranks.

But still and all, the Pharmacy School looks to be the class of the league. They have four members on their team who played with last year's championship Bomber quintet, and three of the four were regular starters for that club.

The entrance into the league of four Medical School teams has helped a lot to further Intramural interest at the University. This is the first time these teams have entered. Previously, they have stayed away from Intramural sports as much as possible, but this year they have decided to enter in as many sports as they possibly can.

Proof of the fact that they do have good basketball players at the Medical School is revealed in the league statistics issued this week by the Physical Education Department. Three of the six leading scorers in the league come from the doctors' teams.

The figures also showed that the league's leading scorer was George Kruger, star forward of the Phi Alpha basketball team, which at present is occupying last place in the 10-team league. Kruger has scored 14 points in two games to hold a one-point edge over Joe Giovacchini of the Pharmacy School sophomores, who have hit the cords for 13 points apiece.

Complete scoring statistics follow:

Player and team	Games	FG	F	Pts
Kruger, Phi Alpha	2	7	0	14
Giovacchini, Pharmacy	2	5	3	13
Miller, Med. Sch. Sophs.	1	5	3	13
Pritchard, Med. Sch. Frosh	1	6	0	12

Colonials to Remember . . .

By Dave Nobes

• HERE IS A COLONIAL FOR EVERYONE TO REMEMBER. — Lieutenant Joe Comer, killed in a California plane crash in June 1943 while on a military mission. Mark him well—he was everything that was ever "Colonial" at the University.

He was one of the outstanding University athletes, whose name will long be listed among basketball's immortals. Long, lanky Joe Comer, who was a native Washingtonian, never gained any great rewards for his efforts; but without him the team of 1941 would not have made such a brilliant record.

In his senior year, he was the second highest scorer on the Buffmen's roster, and was nominated for the All-District team. Despite the fact that he starred as a pitcher on the University's baseball team, he gained his fame through his basketball prowess.

He attended Roosevelt High School, where he was a regular player on the varsity basketball team. When he came to the University, he played on the freshman team in his first year and served as a varsity reserve the following year. In his junior year he earned the regular center spot and showed his talent by chalking up 137 points in 19 games. His 157 points in his final season placed him in the number two spot among University high scorers.

Joe played under the University's great coach, Bill Rhinehart, on what has been called GW's greatest team. That team which he captained won 18 games while losing four. During that time, he was always even-tempered and despite his ability to sink shots from all over the floor, he never became a ball hog. His ability to remain calm resulted in his saving many games for the Buff and Blue.

His performances on the basketball court and the baseball diamond have been and will be surpassed, but his name will never be forgotten on the campus of the school which he loved so well. Sports fans will recall his exploits with pride and affection whenever his name is mentioned.
